Take your short game to new heights

There was a lot of hype last week on social media of the PGA Merchandise show in Orlando, and by all accounts the game of Golf in the USA is doing well again. The interesting no show among the major brands reported by Dale Hayes was TaylorMade, watch the press for why.

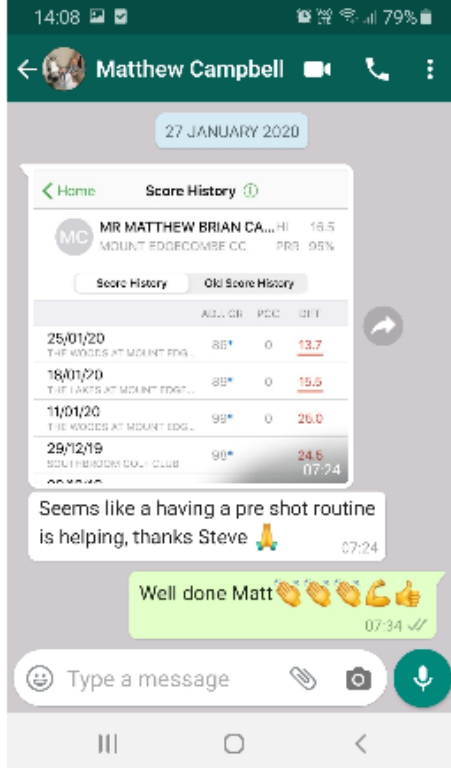

We had the guys from Callaway at the Club last week with the new Maverick and Odyssey lines and it was nice to see so many of our regular customers in attendance and even Attie and Luke gave the new wedges a go!

The happy student

After completing a course of lessons Matthew was hitting the ball better but struggling to lower his scores. We scheduled a playing lesson and it was then apparent that his lack of a pre-shot routine was limiting his progress...

Well done Matthew!

Do you need help with your pre-shot routine?

Look out next week for the Friday night under lights music evening, more details will be advertised soon...

New irons now?

The shortest moment, the

BIGGEST IMPACT

You have less than an inch and just 0.0005 seconds to influence what is going to happen with your golf ball.

There are characteristics of your irons that can make it much harder to make this fraction of a second count. We need to tick these off.

Get the lie angle or shaft length wrong, and, on contact with the turf, the face will IMMEDIATELY TWIST.

Grip size too thick, you'll struggle to rotate the clubface and leave it open. Grip size too thin, you'll get too handsy and close the face.

The shaft is too stiff, and you won't unload the club leaving the face open at impact. Too much flex and the clubface will get ahead, and the face will try to close too quickly.

Finally, how much offset does the face have? Too much and the face will be open. Too little, and you will be closed.

Offset

Be your best ever

Technology is changing the game. Too many lose out because they don't spend the time to get fitted. Technology, fitted, means your best golf will be ahead of you.

Act on your feelings

What if we could get
YOU THERE QUICKER?

What if we could deliver you a better golf experience quicker than you ever thought possible?

What if some simple habits could make an immediate improvement to your game?

Too many golfers make it almost impossible to hit good approach shots because they haven't warmed up to allow themselves to rotate. And too few golfers hit great shots because of some basics setup errors and inadequate preparation before the shot.

So much can be learned quickly

In a 9-hole round with us, we can highlight the good habits every golfer can adopt to discover more joy, satisfaction, and accomplishment.
